Falls increase with advancing age.

In daily life there are a large number of risks, which can lead to falls and eventually to hip fractures.

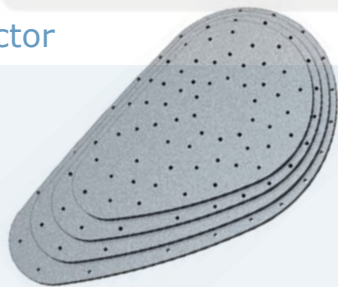

Falls and osteoporosis are the most frequent reasons for hip fractures.

Apart from leading an active life and adequate osteoporosis drug treatment, the mechanical prevention of hip fractures at the site of the highest risk, the hip region, with a hip-protector is an important factor in the prevention of hip fractures.

Hip protectors increase your safety and self confidence, because they reduce the risk of hip fractures decisively.

AHIP-Protector

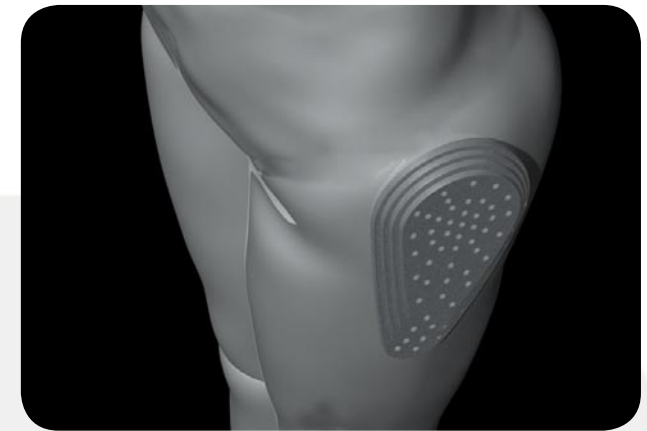

Why was a Hip-protector of the „New Generation“ been developed ?

The development of the AHIP-Protector was necessary, because the compliance and the wearing comfort of hip protectors currently available did not fulfil the wishes of patients and doctors.

The team, consisting of medical doctors, material engineers and designers was very successfully with the development of the AHIP-Protector and made decisive progress

- Converts medical considerations optimally
- simple positioning with large protection elements
- increases wearing comfort by using a new material (flexibility and air permeable)
- Design indicates the function and improves compliance

The advantages of the AHIP-Protector of the „New Generation“ were tested experimentally in laboratories and on patients and its efficacy was confirmed.

Enjoy your life protected !

Nowadays people will stay physically active and do sports also in higher age.
